Tick Remover Set

For people and pets

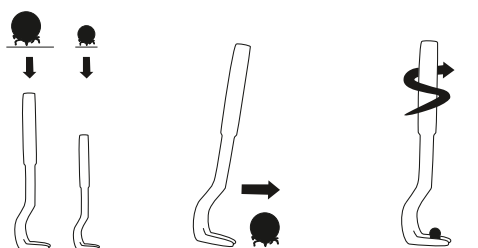

The Tick Remover Set cannot prevent tick infestation, but it can minimise the risk of transferring diseases carried by the ticks when they are removed, as the Tick Removers will not squeeze the arachnids. Thus the chance of getting tick related diseases is greatly reduced. The parasites lurk in the warm season on shrubs and on the grass. They wait for a host whose blood they can feed on. Whilst wearing light clothing during a walk in the countryside, ticks can very easily be picked up and they will then bury themselves in your skin. Also, pets suffer greatly from ticks. Often they are only found at the end of the day and sometimes not at all. It is therefore important to check yourself and your pet for tick bites regularly. Should you find a tick, the Tick Remover hooks will help you get rid of it. Depending on the size of the tick, select a hook and push its opening underneath the tick body. Then slowly pull the tick out of the skin with a twisting motion of the hook. The great advantage is that no hair or fur is pulled out at the same time, thanks to the Tick Remover's design. The set contains a large and a small hook for removing ticks of all sizes.
