Marten Deterrent Shield

Blocks the way to the roof.

Martens are skilled climbers and often can the attic via the downpipe. They are noisy and can cause great damage to the insulation or objects stored there. Not to mention the odour caused by carrion remains or droppings that the animals can leave behind. GARDIGO's marten deterrent shield is a climbing barrier that blocks the martens' way up.

The product is made of transparent acrylic glass. This makes the marten repellent almost invisible and completely unobtrusive on your house facade.

We have designed the product to be particularly easy to install. The marten shield is simply hung in the gutter and then fixed to the downpipe with the stainless steel cable tie provided. This means you don't have to fiddle around with tools high up on the ladder.
