Marten Defence Belt, Set of 2

For downpipes

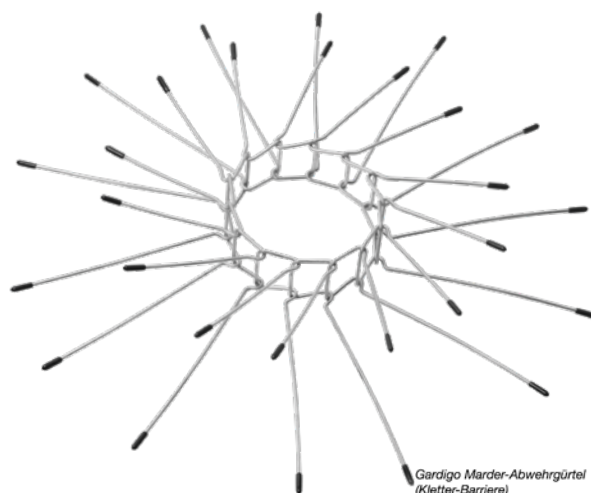

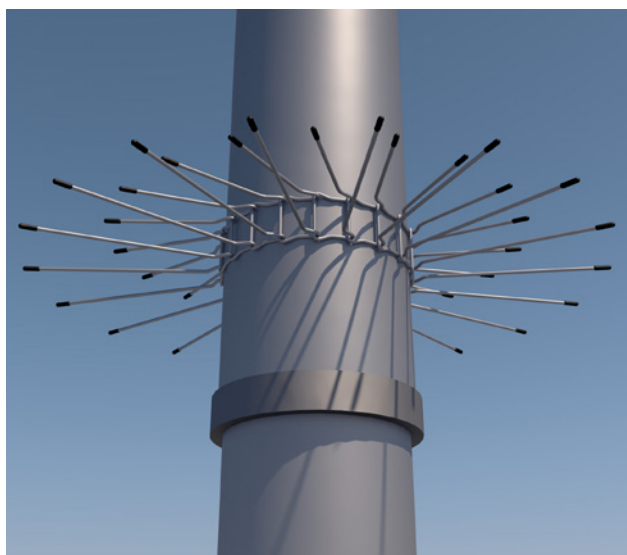

Marten are skilful climbers. They can climb downpipes effortlessly and will reach the loft, where they can do great damage. Our Marten Defence Belt allows you put an obstacle in their way.

Most people first notice a marten problem on the attic by nightly noises. If damaged insulation or carrion can be found, the problem has reached an advanced stage.

The Gardigo Marten Defence Belt looks impressive, but it's actually a climbing barrier, which will do no harm to the animal.

The product is a modular system. This allows you to adjust its length to your individual needs. For large down spout diameters it can be extended with further sets.
