Apple Feeding Station for Birds

Secured food supply for the winter

Every year the winter comes and food for the birds gets scarce. Many birds stay in our climes and we can enjoy their presence during the whole of winter, but they are hungry and they need vitamins.

The Gardigo Apple Feeding Station should be set up in winter with the first snowfall. This is the time when birds will look for feeding places to which they will stick. The feeder should be placed as sheltered as possible and hung, so that the birds are not fully exposed to the weather whilst feeding.

Enjoy helping the birds in your garden by using the Gardigo Feeding Station.

Application:

Thread an apple, any other fruit or a fat ball onto the skewer. The feeder can be hung into the garden with the help of hooks.

Please note: Please make sure that you only feed the birds when they have no other way to get food (e.g. when there is frost and snow).
