Squirrel House

Feeding station for squirrels

Every year in winter, food sources for squirrels diminish. Their buried food caches are often not large enough and even when they are, they are hard to reach when there is frost or snow. As their hunger is great in the cold time of the year, squirrels are thankful for feeding stations such as our Squirrel House and will visit them often. In return, we can enjoy their presence. Kids in particular love to watch the adorable animals.

Our Squirrel House is made of wood. A pane of acrylic glass protects the food from dirt and moisture. The house can be used to feed red and grey squirrels as well as chipmunks. They will love this feeder!

Put up the Squirrel House when the first snow falls to be able to watch the activities of the animals over the whole winter. The ideal place for it is sheltered, so that the food and the animals are not subjected to the weather.

Application:

Open the roof of the Squirrel House to fill it with squirrel food and nuts.

Please note: Only feed the animals when they have no other food sources (e.g. when there is snow and frost). Stop feeding in spring.
